

Inside the beehive

Make your own beehive comb

You'll need:

cardboard box paint scissors
toilet rolls pencil circular pieces of paper

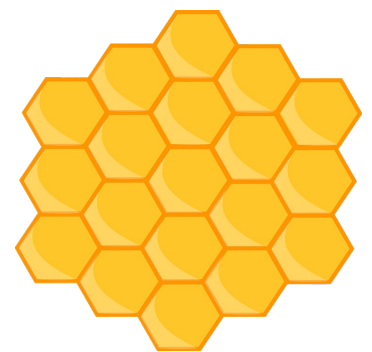

Start off by painting your toilet rolls and your box. Feel free to get creative!

Flatten the rolls and draw lines like above.
Fold along the lines.

Pop the rolls into shape. Dip the ends of the toilet rolls in glue and place inside the box. You might need a bit of glue between honeycomb cells as well. Let them dry.

With your circular bits of paper and glue, cover some of the honeycomb holes. These are like brood cells, where baby bees develop! Add some scrunched up cellophane as honey. Your honeycomb should start to look like the one above!
