

FAQs - The Sydney Craft Beer and Food Festival

Frequently Asked Questions about events in Centennial Parklands

What is the event?

On Saturday 1 December, The Sydney Craft Beer and Food Festival, presented by BeerFest Australia, will be held in Centennial Park. The Festival will take festival-goers on a journey of beer and food discovery; exploring rare brews, beer/food pairing and unique recipes at free Masterclasses and tasting exclusive festival brews from around the Country, direct from the brewers themselves.

Announcing the biggest and boldest Craft Beer & Food Festival to date – with the best music, comedy and craft brew line-up. Centennial Parklands offers the perfect viewing for the epic main stage entertainment. Over 300 unique and small batch craft beers, ciders, cocktails and wines, hand crafted and perfectly complemented by Sydney's most decadent local street food.

Where can I find more information about the event and how to attend?

For information about the event and ticketing please visit the Beer Festivals website.

Which areas of Centennial Parklands are impacted by this event and when?

Sydney Craft Beer and Food Festival will be held at Brazilian Fields in Centennial Park. An event of this size requires a number of days to install and dismantle the infrastructure. Installation will commence on Wednesday 28 November 2018 with the site fenced off to the general public for safety reasons. The event site will be reopened to the public on Tuesday 4 December 2018.

During the construction period, large vehicles and event suppliers will be required to access the event site at Brazilian Fields. Traffic control will be in place on the corner of Parkes Drive and Dickens Drive to manage safe and authorised vehicle access. Please note this may cause minor traffic delay so we ask that you please comply with traffic controller directions during this time for your own safety.

I am not attending the event, will I still be able to access Centennial Parklands on the event day/s?

Yes, you will still be able to access Centennial Park on the event day however traffic congestion is expected.

What will the traffic and access impacts be?
